Pioneer Coloradoans prepared today to defend their farms against an influx of homesteaders who, the federal government has declared, are entitled to 20,000 acres of the richest soil in the west.

The government ruling sets forth that the Union Pacific railroad, through one of its subsidiaries, was given 20,000 acres too much under the land grant act of 1867. The land is, therefore, held to be open to settlement.

Although the order was issued in June, it was not made public here until late yesterday, when William R. Eaton and Charles B. Timberlake, representatives in congress, began a hurried effort to have it rescinded.

More than 200 pioneer families bought the land from the railroad, improved and farmed it for more than 500 mer railroad holdings.

Wears. Most of the disputed soil lies in Weid county, the center of Coloradoa sugar beet industry.

Under the interior department's rulings, the farmers who have occupied the land for half a century are to exercice men. Local officials said the department did not publish its action in nevspapers as is the custom.

In my opinion it is futile to discuss whether believing Catholics represent the majority or minority in Spain. If they are in the majority there is no power under democratic conditions to legislate against their feelings.

If they are in the minority they are entitled to receive proper protection. With respect to their individual rights there should be a guarantee against abuses by the state and by public authorities.

The checks will be distributed, Bostwick said, as soon as they are received from the state comptroller.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—(P)—In exactly four weeks the United States has lost half p billion dollars of its epormous monetary gold stock.

On September 16, the federal reserve banks had a stock of $5,051,000,000. At the close of business yesterday the total was $4,424,000,000. Most of the gold has gone to Europe. Officials said the transfers were made by European central banks recalling the metal that had been stored in the United States for safety.

Abandonment of the gold standard in some countries, it was added, led financial interests abroad to feel the best place for their hoards was in their own vaults.

Besides this explanation, no special significance was attached to the movement. The loss in the week ending October 14 totaled $218,000,000.

A federal reserve statement which showed the gold decrease also reported money in circulation in the country increased $42,000,000 in the last week to a total of $5.473,000,000.

This amount is $973,000,000 more than was in circulation a year ago and with no greater commercial demand for money than at that time

JURY TO REPORT TODAY IN CANNON INQUIRY

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—(P)— The grand jury that investigated the political activities of Bishop James Cannon Jr. tomorrow will have an opportunity to report its findings. It is a regular indictment day of the District of Columbia supreme court. The jury must advise this court whether it found reasonable evidence of violation of the federal corrupt practices law by the southern Methodist churchman.

Named with the clergyman in the investigation was Miss Ada L. Burroughs. treasurer of his anti-Smith democratic organization. A score of witnesses, most of whom testified in the senate campaign funds investigation, were heard by the grand jury.

FOREIGN WAR VETS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—(P)— Despite President Hoover's emphatic and repeated opposition to a cash bonus, the Veterans of Foreign Warstoday laid upon his desk a new demand for immediate payment in full.

mand for immediate payment in full.

The president received it in silence.
With only a hasty glance at the 2.000-word petition, embodying the organization's complete legislative program, Mr. Hoover stepped outside his office and posed, smiling, for the photograph with the petition-bearer.

He indicated to Darold D. Decoe, of Sacramento. Cal., newly elected commander-in-chief of the veterans' organization, that he would give more consideration to the lengthy document later.

The president's conclusion, however, was considered foregone.

South Improving, Says Harvey Best, Monotype Chief

Harvey D. Best, president of the Lanston Monotype Machine Company, of Philadelphia, arrived in Atlanta district offices. Mr. Best, a native of Tennessee, formerly traveled over the south as representative of the company he now heads, and has many friends and acquaintances here.

"Southern business is on its way back to normal conditions," Mr. Best said, "and the worst of the depression seems to be over." He has just come from New Orleans, and has visited many southern states within the past few weeks.

"Sales in our commodity, as in others, are steadily increasing, and prospects for a good year are apparent," he stated. He has always been interested in the south, and sees for her a great future. "Atlanta is going to be the great southern industrial center," thinks Mr. Best, who recently moved his district sales office here from Birmingham, Ala.

A remarkable story lies behind the success of Mr. Best. Starting his business life as a wandering printer, he has risen to the presidency of a $10,000,000 organization, one of the largest of its kind in the world, according to G. Walter Lieb, southern district manager with offices at 116 Spring street, N. W. A success article in the American Magazine in 1930 featured Mr. Best as one of the most outstanding men in the country. From wandering printer, Mr. Best turned his hand to instructing others in the use of the monotype machine, later becoming connected with the turned his hand to instructing others in the use of the monotype machine, later becoming connected with the Lanston Monotype Machine Company as salesman. Cloudy Day Foreseen By Weather Observer

The rain that was slated to arrive in Atlanta Thursday morning missed out on the weather bureau, according to C. F. von Herrmann, meteorologist, and due to the fact that the low pressure area which was to the east of Atlanta, toward the coast, has moved out so far eastward that it will not affect Atlanta at all, today will be but "partly cloudy."

The temperature will be about the same today as that of Thursday, ranging between 62 and 80, it was forecast. The mercury on Thursday ranged between 64 and 82 degrees.

The present low ebb has been brought about by tariffs that denied foreign markets to American surplus produce, by an isolated parochial foreign policy, by government encouragement of frenzied finance, and by the immunity from prosecution granted to merging monopolistic combinations."

The naval reductions have been a source of controversy both in congress and out, particularly as they affect the building program. The administration recently announced that six destroyers of 11 authorized by congress would not be built at this time.

Reductions in personnel, curtailed fleet activities and abandonment of some navy yards have been mentioned as avenues to reduced naval disbursements. Just what is affected by the cut in estimates was not disclosed, however.

The government's fiscal experts are still engaged in an extensive study of means of providing the government with increased income. Whether President Hoover will recommend a tax increase to congress may depend upon this survey. To give the experts all possible time for their study, the treasury announced today its report to the president will not be made until after November 1, about a month before congress meets.

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, lazative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine. For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. THE ECUMENICAL.

When Priest John Wesley, driven by the Holy Spirit to resist the smothering ritualism and worldliness of the church of his day, inaugurated his methodistic practice of spiritual religion, his radius of action was necessarily provincial. But in less than two centuries the simple leaven of his spiritual prescription has expanded with such supernatural persistence and power as to fully justify the great boast he made that "the world is my parish." For so it is today, and that worldgirdling fact will be again demonstrated by the features of the Methodist ecumenical conference which here in Atlanta this evening.

He thought, in the days of the coming thought, in the days of the coming renaissance in singing, that many of the well-known hymns will be discarded, because of lack of genuine religion or dignity and beauty. Among such he noted "From Greenland's Icy Mountains," "Tell Me the Old, Old Story," and "I Am Thine, O Lord." He asserted his belief that, since Methodism championed the old, she will also champion the new—the songs of the torch-bearer, the home building, the city emancipator, the challenge of youth.

Washington Won Because He Wasn't 'Broad' Enough To Think Any Other Way Right

-By Robert Quillen -The modern American vain of his broad mind overlooks the fact truth itself is narrow.

Error is as broad as human fancy. It will compromise, make terms, adjust itself to ignorance and prejudice. But truth has nothing to offer except ore narrow version of fact.
"All religions," says the modern, "are good."

It would be as truthful to say that all political theories are good.

If he is asked to add two and two, will he say that any answer is good? Broad untruth can provide answers without number, but truth affords only one—narrow, hide-bound, unalterable and everlasting.

Too much of the modern world's broad-mindedness is mere indifference. It attains breadth at the expense of depth and the result is shallowness. A man isn't broad because he lacks the intellectual energy There was a time when the average American had convictions rooted in his marrow and was eager to proclaim and defend them. They were his chief possessions.

The growth of prosperity developed new standards and new ideals. The proverbial timidity of capital taught men discretion. If convictions interfered with profits, prudence suggested keeping them hidden. Why offend a good customer by displaying opinions unlike his? "Profits before principle," said business. A land of salesmen learned to avoid discussion of politics or religion or any other subject pregnant with strife, and the theory that the customer is always right was applied to opinions as well as complaints. The inevitable result was loss of moral backbone. Nature rids the premises of equipment that isn't used. When convictions went out of fashion, because they interfered with business, no more of them were developed except by the simple people who aren't affected by fashion. Nice people became broad-minded. Minds became so broad and s Nice people became broad-minded. G. F. W. C. Executive Board Votes Division of State Into 10 Districts

BY BESSIE S. STAFFORD.

Editor of Georgia Federation's Official Club Page in The Constitution.

Executive board of Georgia Federation assembled in the Henry Grady hotel, yesterday voted to recommend for passage at the Columbus convention in May. 1932, the redistricting of the state of Georgia into 10 districts instead of 12, the change to take place at the 1932 autumn meetings of districts of Georgia federation. The recommendation of this plan follows the action of the general assembly of Georgia during the 1931 session, redistricting the state into 10 instead of 12 congressional districts. According to Georgia federation by-law, the districts of the federation correspond with the congressional districts of the state, and, if adopted in Columbus in 1932, there will be 10 district presidents hereafter, instead of the 12 serving under the present plan. Mrs. S. V. Sanford, of Athens, president of Georgia federation, presided at the session and the recommendation was drawn up by Mrs. John K. FRIENDLY COUNSEL

Problems of general interest submitted by readers will be discussed in this column. Correspondence invited. Your name held in confidence. Write Miss Chatsield, care The Atlanta Constitution.

DEAR MISS CHATFIELD: Despite your complaints that you get too many letters on this subject of petting, I am writing another one because I think I have something to say. I am 20 years old and engaged to the sweetest girl in the world. Being one of the accused, I am in position to know how serious this petting business is. I know, too, that none of us boys and girls get any material value out of it. Instead, many of us are often involved in serious situations as a result of it.

I have been in crowds of boys and girls, all in their teens, where each boy had a girl in his arms whom he caressed and kissed at will. Personally, I have been opposed to such behavior but since boys and girls expected me to participate I usually did. When I refused I was called the "fun block of the gang," with ugly taunts hurled at me in addition, as for instance, "Doesn't Old Fashioned want any sugar?"

If girls knew what the boys know, they would all quit it. A boy may say he likes it but in the end he hates it and when he starts out to look for a wife he avoids the habitual petter. When I met my future wife I fell in love with her at once because she was so womanly. She refused to pet or to smoke. Yet she was kind and courteous to everyone. In a word she was the personification of feminimity.

If any girl thinks she can make a boy like her better by petting with him she is vastly mistaken. I have said this face to face with several girls who laughed at me, called me "oldish." But in spite of that I know whereof I speak. Tell your girl readers to be womanly. It pays best. And to you, Miss Chatfield, let me say that the high ideals you hold up for young women are obliged to make an impression.

C. MOSELEY.

I have never complained of receiving a letter like this. On the contrary, it is altogether heartening and encouraging. It says far more forcefully than I can say, what I believe and what I have sought to tell the girls, and the boys. The letters I complain of are the letters from the girls trying to justify their shady conduct on the ground that it is necessary to allow petting in order to be popular.

boys. The letters I complain of are the letters from the girls trying to justify their shady conduct on the ground that it is necessary to allow petting in order to be popular.

I am getting a pretty good sized file of letters from young men who are disgusted with the behavior of the flippant girls who fancy that they keep the boys amused by allowing physical intimacies and at the same time hold the respect of those boys. And the companion file to it is interesting. Every time I print one such letter I have a score of inquiries from girls who want the address of the man who has such ideals for womanhood and who is not afraid to volce them. This young man scotches the would-be inquirers, for he announces his engagement along with his platform.

Nothing that is cheap is desirable. We naturally despise what is too easily got, whether it be caresses or some other commodity. Any girl who looks like popularity, for the time being, but she doesn't have to go far before she discovers that she has bartered the one thing above all others that she needs, and the one thing for which there is no substitute—that thing innocence.

The reason for choosing the penalty rather than game is that penalties have the habit of mounting beyond definite. There is also the chance that your belief that game may be made or may be shattered through unfavorable distribution, and thus the argument in favor of selecting the equivalent penalty rather than a game is based on sound logic. However, there are many hands in which players deliberately elect to take a penalty rather than permit their opponents to score a game, and, in bidalty rather than permit their oppo-nents to score a game, and, in bid-ding for more tricks than their cards can take, they are playing sound and brilliant Bridge, provided that they brillant Bridge, provided that they have correctly assessed the trick-taking power of their adversaries.

North appreciates that the bidding has not shown the possession of either the honor or playing-tricks to justify hopes of making six. RASKOB DONATES Martial Airs Mark Colorful Farewell Chairman Makes It Clear Democrats Must Expect No More From Him.

BY ROBERT ST. JOHN.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—(P)—
While political interest was centered today in the disagreement between former Governor Affred E. Smith and Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt over the latter's reforestation program, John J. Raskob, chairman of the democratic national committee, put another $100.000 in the party's coffers.

Latest available figures show the Latest available figures show the democratic organization owes Raskob $295,250 for loans.

The $100,000 contribution, however, was an outright gift. Just one string was attached to it.

"I am glad to contribute $100,000 to the victory fund," Raskob wrote to John W. Davis, general chairman of the drive for funds, "conditioned on $1,500,000 being raised."

The goal for the drive already had been set at $1,500,000. Five hundred democratic supporters representing all states are on the general committee sponsoring the campaign.

ing all states are on the general committee sponsoring the campaign.

Raskob made it clear in a letter to Davis the democrats could expect no more money from him, and that he felt he had done his duty to the party. He wrote:

"This represents my full and final contribution to this fund. It is given gladly because of my belief in the cause to which I have already contributed very heavily in time and money."

money."

The letter said that during the last two and a half years he has "personally assumed responsibility for seeing to it that the national com-mittee should be able to function efmittee should be able to function effectively."

In announcing the gift, Davis, who was the democratic candidate for president in 1924, said:
"Mr. Raskob's gift is a challenge to every friend of the party to become a party stockholder for 1932."
The disagreement between Smith, who ran for president in 1928 and Governor Roosevelt, who is being boomed for the 1932 presidential nomination, was brought into the open by Smith himself at a Tammany rally last night.

During his address he told how he mendments at the state election this amendments at the state election this fall.

Amendment No. 3 would create a reforestation reserve from which the state in years to come would be permitted to sell timber. It has the backing of Governor Roosevelt and his conservation commission. While in the south the governor talked publicly about the program and indicated he thinks it a liberal plan.

Mr. Smith urged New York citizens to throw it "out the window" and characterized the amendment as reactionary. He said it would give the timber "which belongs to us" to lumber merchants and paper kings.

During his discussion of the amendments he made his only reference to prohibition.

"I wish the federal constitution was safeguarded against amendments as "I wish the federal constitution was safeguarded against amendments as well as our state constitution," he said. "If it had been, you would have had no eighteenth amendment." Governor Roosevelt, on his way home from his southern tour, made no reference to the former Governor's speech.

Those Pilgrims came way over here in their little boat, and fought storms and diseases and Indians and everything, just to live as they pleased and not be picked on. That picture was what gave Martin and me our idea about going out west and living as we pleased. Of course Martin and me are different from you and the young surgeon, and it's none of my business, but, oh, Miss Fabia. I would just love to see you married to Dan Regan. I think he's grand. "Good-night, Miss Fabia."

Fabia lay very still after Jennie had closed the door, her eyes fastened on the space at the foot of the bed where Jennie had stood, as if a sign had appeared there written in flame—a message expressed in homely words and phrases, but mediums were usurly simple, uneducated folk, it flashed over Fabia. "Why don't you and the young surgeon clear out and start a tribe of your own out west some place?"

At first only objections rose up to meet the message. Why, Fabia would as soon suggest that Dan change his profession. His ambitions were rooted in Boston. The very obstacles in his way were a spur and inspiration, he had told her. He didn't love her enough to give up success in Boston. She was sure of that. So that was that!

She'd better undress. It was after 12 o'clock.

Supposing Dan hadn't been a surgeon. Supposing he had been in business, or a bond salesman, like a lot of the boys she'd met this winter. Supposing it didn't matter to him where he was successful, just so he was. Boston wasn't the only place where a man could get to the top of his job. Jennie had said. She was right. It wasn't the only place a surgeon could get there either. Oh, supposing Dan and she could go forth together alone, and she could go forth together alone.

Nation's Grid Forces Mobilize To Aid Unemployment Drive; Georgia's Bulldogs Depart To Battle Tarheels on Saturday

Mister W. A. Alexander is not up in the chips, speaking from the standpoint of football victories, but I would be very surprised indeed if one could produce a better bit of coaching than the Georgia Tech coach and his aides are doing at the Flats this

It is such a fine bit of work that it should not be hid under the bushel of silence. It is also such an unselfish bit of work, so far as the boys are concerned, that perhaps they haven't guessed what a break they are getting.

There are two football teams at the Flats this fall, And one is about as good as the other. Certainly it would be possible to select from the 22 players 11 who could go harder, and perhaps make a better showing in

But I find Coach W. A. Alexander keeping his head, and building for the future and for the improvement of his boys. Had he leaped in and concentrated on the early football games, he would have had 11 pretty good football players, and some 20 more who were quite vague and uncertain about it all. As it is, he has developed two teams. They seem to have a wider assortment of plays than teams ordinarily have. And they are getting a larger variety of defensive work. They are assimilating all this football knowledge a bit slowly, being green as gourds, to use an old-fashioned simile. But they are getting it. A visit to the Flats yesterday afternoon revealed that the evidence that anyone is tearing his shirt to get ready. The football team is busy. It will take, or miss, Auburn right in stride. And by November there will be a good football equad at the Flats that will have a real idea of football. Eleven boys will not have been exploited at the expense of the remainder of the squad. The boys will have been given an opportunity to learn the They may have taken some raps getting there, but they

This is also a tribute to the Georgia Tech faculty. Their coach was not forced to concentrate everything on trying to produce a winner, and nothing else. The alumni may not understand this.

It is a great bit of work, and one of the finest examples of what it means to have a boy under a coach who is working for the boy as well as himself.

Mr. Alexander—the old hat is off.

LOOKOUT, MISTER INDIAN!

Nuck Brown, The Constitution's advertising director, who was All-Southern end and captain of the 1913 Vanderbilt football team, looked in briefly at Tech's practice Thursday. He recalled the game which Tech won from Cumberland University by more than 200 points.

"It was in that game," said Brown, "that one of the Cumberland halfbacks was being chased back by Joe Guyon. The back finally ran off the field, jumped on the bench and said, "Lookout, Mister Indian, you're going" picked team. Plans were under way for a game at St. Louis between the University of Missouri and the winner of the Thanksgiving game between Washington University and St. Louis University. Members of the "Big Six" were said to be generally willing to enter any kind of post-season competition, but awaited permission from the faculty council, which meets Saturday. Members of the western, or "Big Ten" conference, were marking time. Nuck Brown, The Constitution's advertising director, who the bench and said, 'Lookout, Mister Indian, you're going to keep on until you hurt me."

Brown also recalled another story of the same game. The Cumberland subs were all used up, and some of them were put in two and three times by agreement.

One of them left the game and took a seat on the Tech bench, said Brown. "Son," said Coach Alexander, "you're on the wrong

"No, sir, coach," the boy said, "that's where you're wrong. I'm on the right bench. I've been in there three times already.

ANOTHER COME-BACK.

After a brief period when it was generally assumed that the youth of the land was turning to sissy pursuits and developing into a lot of mollycoddles, it is a relief to discover that the trend is toward the he-man, 100 per cent frontiersman make-up once

The idea came to me on a recent football trip that the undergraduates were taking more interest in the football teams than was their wont a few years ago. We heard a lot at this time about how the undergraduates were becoming sophisticated, and turning to gin and picture shows, rather than seats at the football stadium.

The idea of cheering for the football team had become, so magazine articles said, passe, bucolic or yokelish and was being politely snubbed by the thinking undergraduates.

This was all very distressing to one of the old school who had an idea that, next to making the equad, one's next duty was to be there, going through the motions

When the Georgia football team left for Yale recently, your correspondent all but had a box car upset upon him. Some excited students had climbed upon it and set about rocking it.

The idea, I think, was that if a box car were to be turned over, it would add no little to the send-off for the team. All the students were there in the rain, and there was quite a din when the train left.

And even dignified old Yale turned out her students to cheer. And most of them seemed to be there. There may have been a few lost in the new library, which looks as large as the city of Cartersville with room for Marietta in one corner. And maybe Atlanta could be squeezed in, too. But, at any rate, they were out there, yelling.

In another year we may expect the nightshirt parade to make its reappearance. It was said that prohibition and not ratiocination killed the nightshirt parade, but it may have been thinking. The nightshirt parade is on the way back.

ENCOURAGING ASPECTS.

A gentleman in the office who has a small son, came in with some encouraging news. It seems that the younger generation is addicted to sports which make the old days of tin-can shinny and such sports seem very puny sports indeed.

This young son came home with his bicycle in foul condition. The frame was bent into a pretzel-like shape. Investigation developed the fact that he had come off loser in a new game. The owners of bikes are now getting running starts, and seeing which one can ride into the other the hardest.

They stick with their mounts and give the final shove to the pedals just before the impact.

This is a new addition to the sport of riding bikes. In

Fordham Tackles Get Special Drills

NEW TORK, Oct. 15.—(UP)—Coach Cavanaugh, of Fordham, concentrated today on tackle play to strengthen the spots at which the most dangerous Holy Cross plays are aimed. Uncertainty as to the condi-tion of Frank Davis, center, and Jack Fisher, quarterback, is Cavanaugh's only worry. It is likely that both men will be able to play if necessary.

FOR TIGER GAME

Team Needs Only More Confidence in Itself To Win Saturday.

By Ralph McGill.

Georgia Tech's lineup for the Auburn game Saturday at Grant field is locked inside Mr. W. A. Alexander's noggin. It stayed there after the last scrimmage of the week

Thursday.

He has two football teams. Either one may be started. But Mr. Alexander will be blessed if he knows which one.

Both looked very good against the way of the black of the started with the black of the started way. Note Dame offense on Thursday. There were odd moments when they did not look so good, but in the main

SHOULD WIN.

There is no reason at all why the Jackets should not win from Auburn. The boys started the season very, very green. They still are green, but it is not the verdant shade it once was. This team has but to come to be-lieve in itself more firmly, and it will win from Auburn. All it lacks is just that little something that makes it start with a spark. The boys should thumb a collective nose at folks who worry about whether they are good or not, and get down to work. r not, and get down to work.

The two teams working Thursday were up against tough scrub opposi-tion. Three good backs were working with the regular scrub outfit. And they were using the Notre Dame backfield shift much better than did Yale. They had it down smoother. CHARGING SPOTTY.

CHARGING SPOTTY.

Occasionally the line did not charge well enough. Jack Cannon was barking at them on several occasions. It will be a matter of charging on Saturday. Both teams are fast and com-paratively light. It will likely be a matter of getting the jump. The team that does will hold it.

This Tech backfield is better than it has been estimated to be. Peeler, Hart. Galloway and Cherry were in one backfield. In the other were Mc-Arthur, Petterson, Black and Barron.

End runs and line plunges brought Wake Forest within six inches of the State line and Shinn, Wake Forest fullback, carried the ball over for a touchdown through the center of State's line. Hutchins, halfback, failed in the try for point.

The game was an even battle until the second half, when a heavy fall of rain soaked the field and several thousand spectators. The Wake Forest line held throughout the game, while State's aerial attack proved a failure.

THREE INJURIES.
Only three players were on the injured list as the team steamed away

Only three players were on the injured list as the team steamed away for the Carolinas. They were Jimmy Stoinoff, capable relief fullback, who is definitely out with a sprained ankle: Sam Brown, speedy little back from Albany, who has a sore neck, and George Eberhardt, the bespectacled guard, who has a bad knee. Of the trio, however, only Stoinoff has no chance of playing.

The Bulldogs are prime favorites to bring back the well-known bacon after Saturday's game. Georgia was superior to begin with, and then the dropping of Johnny Branch and McDade, a tackle, from the Tarheel squad didn't help the opposition any—at least for this game. It may have its effect from a standpoint of discipline, the Tarheel coaches say although the alumni probably will make a motion to disagree.

Folks who saw the Georgia scrimmage here Wednesday, opined that the team did not look so good, and showed a slight letdown since the Yale game. The boys, however, probably will be keyed up to another inspirational peak by the time Rex Enright gets through saying his little piece.

the old days, the idea used to be to learn to ride on the handle-bars of one's own bike. Or to sit on the saddle with a nonchalant look on one's face, and one's arms folded across one's chest, and go riding past HER house. Or to learn to ride backwards. That was a feat.

This new sport of the bikes has all the hairy-chested attributes of hunting Indians or punching cows. There is every indication that the he-man strain is coming back.

What promises to be one of the best football games of the season will take place here tomorrow afternoon on Davency of the G. I. A. A. championship in 1929 and 1930, and the Madison Aggies, runners-up in the championship both years, face each other.

From comparative scores the Aggie team has the edge over the Cadets this year. They turned back the fast and powerful Middle Georgia College in Madison last Friday by the score of 26 to 13, and Middle Georgia College in Madison last Friday by the score of 26 to 13, and Middle Georgia had trounced G. Since the game with the Middle Georgia Collegians, the Cadets have flashed a brilliant offensive, winning easily over the Oglethorne "B" team.

the coaches will understand that I am merely making a guess and that my personal preferences or wishes are in no manner reflected.

In the close games in which my own teams are to be engaged. I prefer that those who guess predict that our opponents will win.

No man can make an accurate prediction on the Georgia Tech-Auburn game. Auburn has just tied the powerful Wisconsin eleven and Tech has been defeated by a good northern team. Auburn may have played over her head against Wisconsin, and I think Georgia Tech will continue to improve.

think Georgia Teen will continue to improve.

Georgia should be stronger than North Carolina, and has much more seasoned material, but if North Carolina has not lost too much in the two hard preceding games so far away from home she will give Georgia pretty stiff opposition.

HARD TO FIGURE.

In guessing Tennessee to win over Alabama I may be very wide of the mark. Alabama lost more veterans and Tennessee has some wonderful sophomore material, along with a veteran line. On the other hand Alabama's second organization of 1930 is intact and it was good.

Duke should be stronged than Davidson. The latter, however, always has a spirited fighting outfit. Maryland played an inspired game against the Navy, and I look for Kentucky to beat Maryland. Clemson showed her mettle by her victory over Presbyterian INTENSE RIVALRY.

The Virginia teams have such in-tense rivalry that you just can't fore-cast what they will do against each cast what they will do against each other. Chattanooga and Mercer in the S. I. A. A. have two rattling good football teams, stronger than many in the Southern Conference, and I doubt whether Sewanee, after her long trip to Charlottoesville, will be able to defeat Chattanooga.

As to the Tulane-Vanderbilt game the latter should be a battle royal. While Vanderbilt did very well against Ohio State, Tulane is powerful, brilliant and has the enthusiasm of a great organization with a background liant and has the enthusiasm of a great organization with a background of consistent victories. She has not been defeated in the conference since 1928. Many thought she was stronger than Alabama last year.

Vanderbilt was able to keep her regulars out of the game at Columbus a considerable part of the time last Saturday and both Tulane and Vanderbilt should be in the very pink of condition—that is, so far as the effect of last Saturday's game is concerned. Captain Leonard, of Vanderbilt, will not be able to play, and it is said that Zimmerman, Tulane's great and brilliant back, is not in the best of condition.

PURPLE TO FACE CADETS TONIGHT ON SPILLER GRID

Close Battle Seen; Decatur Entertains Commercial in Night Game.

Boys' High and G. M. A. will meet at 7:30 o'clock tonight at Spiller field in the first of a round robin series for Atlanta's prep football championship. It will be the final game of the week in prep circles, and promises to be one of the best of the entire season

Decatur and Commercial High, who battled last December for the Class B Jootball championship of Atlanta, will meet at 7:30 o'clock tonight at Decatur High in the only other prep game of the week-end.

Decatur, due to three comparatively easy victories, will rule the favorite tonight. Commercial has scored only six points in three games, two of which were lost and the other a scoreless tie. This should rank with the best of the N. G. I. C. games of the season.

There has been very little difference between the scores for the past several years. In 1929 they played to a scoreless tie and last year Boys' High won out, 7 to 6, the extra point being allowed because 12 players were on the field at the time the place-kick was attempted.

Eight New Records

SEATTLE, Oct., 15 .- (P)-Helene

SEATTLE, Oct., 15.—(P)—Helene Madison, champion woman swimmer, set new world's record for the mile swim and broke seven American records in a swimming exhibition here last night.

The records were set up at different distances over the mile course. The world mile record was held by herself and the American marks by Ethel McGary, New York.

Miss Madison's time for the mile was 23 minutes, 37 1-5 seconds, breaking her own mark of 24 minutes, 34 3-5 seconds. Miss McGary's time for the distance was 25 minutes, 36 seconds.

In addition to the mile swim, Miss Madison set new American records for 900 yards: 1.000 yards; 1,100 yards; 1,320 yards; 1,500 yards, and 1,600

1,320 yards; 1,500 yards, and 1,600 yards.

The event was sanctioned by the A. A. U. and 10 judges, among them "Hec" Edmundson, University of Washington basketball coach, timed Miss Madison.

The 250-yard American record for a five-girl relay team, held by the women's swimming association of New York, was also lowered by a Washington athletic club team made up of Lucy Schacht, Pat Linton, Edna McKibbon, Miss Gilson and Miss Madison, in 2:33 2.5. The old time was 2:36 3-5.

enemy-scoring threats may prove interesting.
Strangely enough, or possibly not so strangely, these Georgia boys do not rate Albie Booth, Yale's shifty little runner, as the hardest man they will have to stop this season—emphatically not.

Booth was a good little man and slippery at times, they'll tell you, but Albie Booth means no more to Georgia's team right now than John Wilkes Booth.

Those Bulldogs are thinking of backfield men they will have to face in the next few games. These boys are causing them more honest-togodness concern than the Yale midget ever caused. They bottled Booth up tighter than a bumble bee in a jug at Athens in 1929. Albie whirred around a whole lot but never got away. That same year Georgia failed to stop Bill Banker and Armstrong, of Tulane, at Columbus.

Tulane is coming up with Zimmerman and Glover and Felts again—not to mention what Southern California has to offer at Los Angeles December 12.

Johnny Branch, of the Tarheels, who was called by the hand of discipline, probably would have caused the Bulldogs some trouble had he been left in the lineup this Saturday.

And still those Georgia boys are hearing about how they stopped Booth. They are inclined, however, to look upon the matter of stopping Booth as a myth that has run its course—a miniature Sampson who has been shorn of his strength.

It's old stuff now. Instead they hear in the distance the pounding feet of backfield men who not only kick and pass like Booth, but run much harder and carry the kind of stiff arms that are hard on one's vertebrae.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—The market refuses to be stampeded on either the buving or the selling side. There is probably just enough liquidation left to be done to keep advances within reasonable bounds and, on the other hand, determined buying makes its appearance on price recessions. This condition is ideal for trading operations, the range of fluctuations recently offerin decidedly satisfactory scope for such activities.

RULES CURB MART

BY CLAUDE A. JAGGER. NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—(49)—The curb market closed with a fairly firm undertone today, although in the late afternoon it lost most of a fair rally.

Trading was in moderate volume, the turnover aggregating 260,000 shares, or 40,000 less than yesterday's.

shares, or 40,000 less than yesterday's.

Utility shares pushed up rather vigorously for a time, under the leadership of Electric Bond & Share, which sold up more than 2 points, and closed up 1 1-2 net. American Gas & Electric, a bond and share affiliate, pushed up more than 3 points, then lost all but a point of its gain. Middle West, United Light A and some others had fractional gains at the close.

In the oils, Gulf closed unchanged. Cities Service rose 1-2 point, then lost its gain, closing unchanged.

In the industrials and specialties, Aluminum Co. rose nearly 5 points, but was up only 1 1-4 at the finish. Great Atlantic & Pacific gained 10 points.

Though her heart beat rapidly, the pithecanthropus maiden did not outwardly betray fear before her threatening chief. Thus for those who spurn the love of their chief!" Saying which, he advanced quickly to seize her. As he laid a rough hand upon her, Pan-at-lee struck him heavily with her golden breastplates. From a niche where were neatly piled a number of pegs twenty inches long, Pan-at-Lee selected five. She made them into a little bundle which she picked up with the lower extremity of her sinuous tail. Thus carrying them, she stepped to the cave's outer balcony. Assuring herself there was none to see or hinder her, she took quickly to the pegs already set in the cliff's face. With monkey-like celerity she clambered swiftly aloft to the highest row of pegs.

Cannon's only sally against Mayor James L. Key, with the exception of the impeachment reference, was taken when he quoted from a story appearing in The Baltimore Sun and which dealt with Key's newly founded Sunday school class.

The speaker quoted the church ritual as an apparent justification of Key's ouster as a teacher of the class at Grace church, and from the church law implying that Key can not even be a Methodist unless he believes in the eighteenth amendment. Dr. C. O. Jones, chairman of the Georgia Anti-Saloon League, introduced Cannon, saying "there are three outstanding figures in the 40-year fight for prohibition in America—Francis Willard, uncrowned queen of America; Wayne B. Wheeler and Bishop James Cannon Jr." The crowd applauded at this juncture.

At the conclusion of the address.

At the conclusion of the address, Jones asked for a voluntary contribu-tion from those present, explaining that Bishop Cannon would not accept pay for his work, but that the money was to go to paying his expenses to Atlanta and back to Washington and for his hotel. Cannon emphasized the

"The old cumbersome mode of the constitution has been superseded by a dictatorship and an oligarchy," he charged,
"The people? Why, the people be damned, say our internationalists and their European allies. They
